Class Prophecy

Can you believe it? Bill Johnson has at last become a chemistry professor following in Scientist Magee's footsteps. Pretty big footsteps to fill, aren't they, Bill?

Judy Sammarco, a graduate of Colombo's Institute for the Perfection of Pronoun Usage, has at last her beloved Lolly as sister-in-law.

Believe it or not, Diane Truden and John are at last enjoying the invigorating atmosphere of a certain Littleton farm. Patricia McNulty enjoyed the company of Diane so much on the Washington trip that she decided to stay on as chief cook and bottle washer.

Louise Winslow and Gilbert Friberg have established a beauty salon, "Coiffeurs pour Madame."

Ethel Sauler and Louise Maitland are swimming instructors at Zottoli's resort in Palm Beach, Florida.

Tobey Campbell is school principal and in order to keep the pupils from being tardy he has abolished the rule completely.

Russell Fidler is a psychiatrist having decided upon this vocation because of his great admiration for Mr. Perkins, and also because he likes to keep up on all the latest gossip.

Camille DeBenedictis is writing the dialogue for "The Alex Lazutin Comedy Hour." His humor is at last appreciated.

Helen Dow is head clothes designer and wardrobe instructor for N. B. C. She always did have good taste in clothes.

Anita Comeau is den mother of the "School Skipper's Club." She's had plenty of exberience and wants her children to follow in her footsteps.

Robert Champagne is now a Mouseketeer--drawing cartoons on the Mickey Mouse Club Show. Bobby has been on the job since the retirement of Roy, who just had to move to Boston in order to be nearer to "Ginnie's Bakery." No one can resist those home-made doughnuts that Miss Edwards makes.

Paula Kimball was so inspired by her trip to Bermuda that after four years at B. U. she has decided upon island-hopping as a career.

Letitia Kimball is now running a ballet school. We always knew she had some hidden talent. Jane Landini is Tish's assistant. For some strange reason they call their school "The Hamilton-Bancroft School of Dancing."

Mary Lou Goddard and Joan Croft are doing very well working side by side at Massachusetts General Hospital. Guess who is head nurse.

Edna Conant now owns a large ranch in Kentucky and is training horses; or vice versa?

Betty Morris, after completing three years at B. U., has decided against a career in music and has opened a riding academy.

Sandra Chulada and Catherine O'Loughlin, both lovers of the fine arts, have a well established finishing school for the young ladies of the ever-growing community of Littleton.

The former Dorothy Robinson is married and has -- not her own basketball team to coach -- but 9 sturdy baseball players.

Although Ronnie could not be with us this past year, he was ever present in our hearts.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Seniors of Littleton High School, in order to form a more perfect high school, establish justice, insure the pupil's rights, provide for the pupil's defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our underclassmen, do ordain and establish this last will and testament of the Class of 1957.

Judy Sammarco leaves her passion for being quiet to Mary O'Keefe in hopes that Mary will not shatter the golden silence at L.H.S.

Tobey Campbell leaves to Frank Cantino his zest for school so that Frank will get to school no more than 30 seconds before the bell rings, as Tobey always did.

Robert Champagne leaves to Jim Smith his ready-made shin guards in the hope that he will have ample protection next year at Herpy's.

Sandra Chulada leaves her pair of elevated shoes to Tom Reinecke.

Virginia Edwards leaves her genuine, genuine, genuine cut-glass rings to Elaine Johnson.

Betty Morris leaves her mellow notes to Charlie Harris in hopes that his will never turn sour.

Joan Croft leaves her acting ability to David Sullivan. He sure needs it!!!!!!

Louise Winslow leaves her way of getting along with a Mann to Dixie Sullivan.

Mary Lou Goddard leaves her writer's cramp caused from U.S. History to Judy Champagne.

Alex Lazutin leaves his high horse to John Kelly in the hope that John will treat it as well as Alex did.

Dot Zottoli leaves her old make-up slips to Julie Hosmer to make up for her.

Edna May Conant leaves her part in the senior play to Claire Beaulieu. Hope she won't be as nervous as Edna was.

Patricia McNulty leaves her right uppercut to Ted Herbert. This might save him the embarrassment of two black eyes.

Tish Kimball leaves her boy friend behind. But don't worry Carter, she'll be waiting.

Paula Kimball leaves some of her old boy friends to the Junior girls. Don't worry girls; you could do worse.

Lolly Brooks leaves her "cool hair cut" to Ruth Ann Dodge.

Louise Maitland leaves her admiration of the psychology class to Ann Byrne. She sure was interested in the material that was on hand. We shall not mention the teacher's name.

Gilbert Friberg leaves his senior year ambition to Franny Lovejoy in hopes that Fran will some day pass a history exam.

Russell Fidler leaves his old cool jewel (car) to Walter O'Brien. Maybe Walt will be able to coax it to run.

Helen Dow leaves her ability to tell a joke to Mickie Chulada. Helen has the know-how; Mickie don't know how.

1043211

Anita Comeau leaves her mischievous manner to Edna Dow.

Dorothy Robinson leaves her pleasant disposition to Carol O'Brien. Put it to good advantage, Carol.

Catherine O'Loughlin leaves her dimples to Beatrice Dufour.

Ethel Sauler leaves her ability to type as fast as she can talk to Carol Todd.

Diane Truden leaves her "beloved gym excuse" to Janet St. Denis.

Jane Landini leaves her position as "Official Chauffeur for the High School" to her brother Andy. Keep up the speed, Andy.

Camille DeBenedictis leaves her "trusted little bottle" to Pat Dennen. Why does everyone want to be blond?

William Johnson leaves his notorious English marks to Joanne Wright to aid her in getting marks the same as most of ours.

Ronnie Fairweather leaves his courage and fortitude as an example to all of us.

To Mr. Silva we leave a box of ice cubes. May he use them wisely for broken noses, legs, arms, fingers, headaches, hangnails, and other difficulties which may arise during the next year.

To Mr. Houde we leave a boomerang in case he should miss his targets, whose names we shall not mention.

The Senior Class leaves to Mr. Magee a new hairbrush with the wish that some day he will be able to use it.

Generous as always, we leave to the Junior Class the first penny we ever made, to help pay for their trip.

To Mrs. Robinson we leave a bottle of black shoe polish for use in covering the grey hair we caused her.

To Miss Armstrong we leave a book of Parliamentary Procedure to assist her in maintaining law and order in her class meetings.

To Mrs. Brown we leave a new supply of Seniors to fill her English III class.

1043211

To Mr. Perkins we leave a timetable so he will know when the trains are scheduled to leave.

To Mr. Cobb we leave a new set of no-school whistles in hopes that other classes will get a chance to hear them.

To Miss Mann we leave a set of orange shorts, purple blouse, and pink ballerina slippers -- the perfect gym uniform.

To Mrs. Jewell we leave one box of chocolate cookies to replace those which so mysteriously disappeared.

To Mrs. Colombo we leave a new set of simple vocabulary words to replace her pedantic expressions.

Having done all in our power to accomplish said beginning of said will, we find this task to be an impossibility--however, it wouldn't work !!!! Signed, sealed and delivered on this seventh day of June in the year of our Lord, One thousand, nine hundred and fifty-seven.

Senior Play

On November 16, 1956, the Senior Class presented the comedy, "Family Circle," by Anne Coulter Martens. Principal parts were played by Joan Croft, Mary Lou Goddard, Dorothy Robinson and Robert Champagne. The supporting cast included Louise Ann Winslow, James Biron, Laureen Brooks, Letitia Kimball, Gilbert Friberg, Neil Campbell, William Johnson, and Edna May Conant.

The play is concerned with the period in Cornelia Otis Skinner's life when she decides that she is going to become an actress instead of going to college. All the difficulties which she encounters when she tries to tell her parents about her ambition, combined with her competition with Enid for Charles' frat pin, add up to a performance which delighted a full house.

Mrs. Robert Brown, the director, and an excellent cast share the credit for the success of the play.

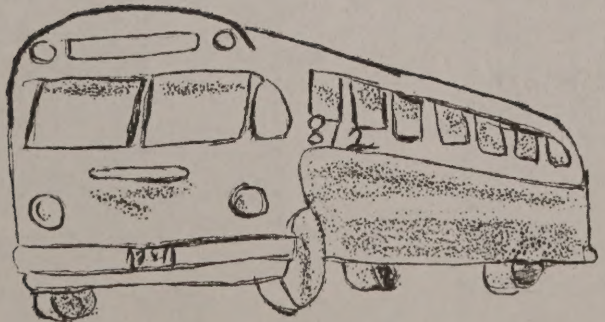
THE WASHINGTON TRIP



Saturday, April 13 -- twenty-five seniors met at 3 to commence A.M. the long-awaited Washington trip. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lacey accompanied us as chaperons. Crammed between suitcases and munching Miss Armstrong's fudge, we finally arrived at South Station, Boston, about
A.M. . Overladen with suitcases, coats, cameras, magazines, food and other paraphernalia, we boarded the train for New York. At first we shared our train with the enormous senior class of six from Hampstead, New Hampshire. After a seemingly endless ride we arrived at Pennsylvania Station, New York. There, collecting the members of our class which had increased to twenty-seven, we bombarded the New Yorker Hotel. A slightly confused official handed out keys to rooms, audibly praying that the rooms would be intact when we left. A free afternoon in store, we were instructed to meet at the hotel around
P.M. for the Radio City Music Hall Tour.

After a somewhat restless!! ? ?!! night we arose bright and early Sunday morning to catch the
A.M. bus for Washington. Sharing our bus with some boys from Dover-Foxcroft, Maine, was an experience which many of us will never forget. Although we wanted Tiny for our bus driver, our disappointment was not too great, for Chuck ably filled his role of chauffeur and schedule-keeper. Enroute, we visited such famous places as Independence Hall, Philadelphia, and Annapolis, Maryland. Although some of the girls wanted to remain here, since it was illegal they were forced to continue on the way to Washington. Finally at  P.M. an exhausted group of seniors collected their luggage from the bus's baggage compartment and staggered into the Harrington Hotel in Washington, D.C. Although we had a free night, everyone was too exhausted to do much except sleep!!!??!!

 A.M. Monday morning, with Chuck beaming brightly at us, we dragged into the bus for a day of sightseeing. After seeing the Jefferson Memorial, walking all over Mount Vernon in a desperate attempt to see everything in one hour and fifteen minutes, visiting the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and staying to see the impressive changing of the guard, and stopping at the Statue of Iwo Jima with most of us too tired and hungry to do anything but sit in the bus and look, Chuck finally took us to eat. About an hour later, refreshed and ready to go again, we set off for the Smithsonian Institute where Chuck left us with the instructions to meet him at the hotel at  P.M. sharp!!! that night. We spent a delightful afterncon at the Institute looking at everything imaginable. Monday night we again set off, this time to see the Ford Theatre where Lincoln was assassinated, the Lincoln Memorial, the Washington Monument, and the Congressional Library.

Bright and early Tuesday morning we again arose and met in the hotel at  A.M. All dressed up and filled with anticipation we set out (by trolley this time) to the Capitol, for we were to have breakfast with Representative Edith Nourse Rogers. We were a little late, (about an hour) for some of us were definitely not habitually early risers or early get-to-bedders!!! After having a delicious, although somewhat large, breakfast with Mrs. Rogers, we were conducted by her through the House of Representatives where we sat in the Representatives' seats and the chair of the Speaker of the House. After saying farewell to Mrs. Rogers on the steps of the capitol, we then left to await the arrival of Chuck and the kids from Maine. When they finally arrived some of us joined them in the Capitol tour while some waited on the bus. That afternoon we visited the Mint (Federal Bureau of Printing and Engraving) where we saw money, money, and more money being printed. That night was a free night. Need we say more??

The next day we again rose early in preparation for the return trip to New York. Expecting another long ride, we were agreeably surprised when we arrived in New York at  P.M. Another free night was in store, and almost everyone had something planned for the evening. Hardly anyone slept that night and it was a tired group who arose the next morning at  A.M. to go to see Dave Garroway's program. A tour of the United Nations Building was next and it was enjoyed by everyone. That afternoon we all managed to get rid of all our money on a shopping spree. From the Grand Central Station we boarded the  P.M. train for Boston where we were met by John McGovern. Was there anyone who didn't enjoy the trip? I doubt it!!!!

Our thanks to the chaperons for the wonderful time that they gave us during our whole trip.

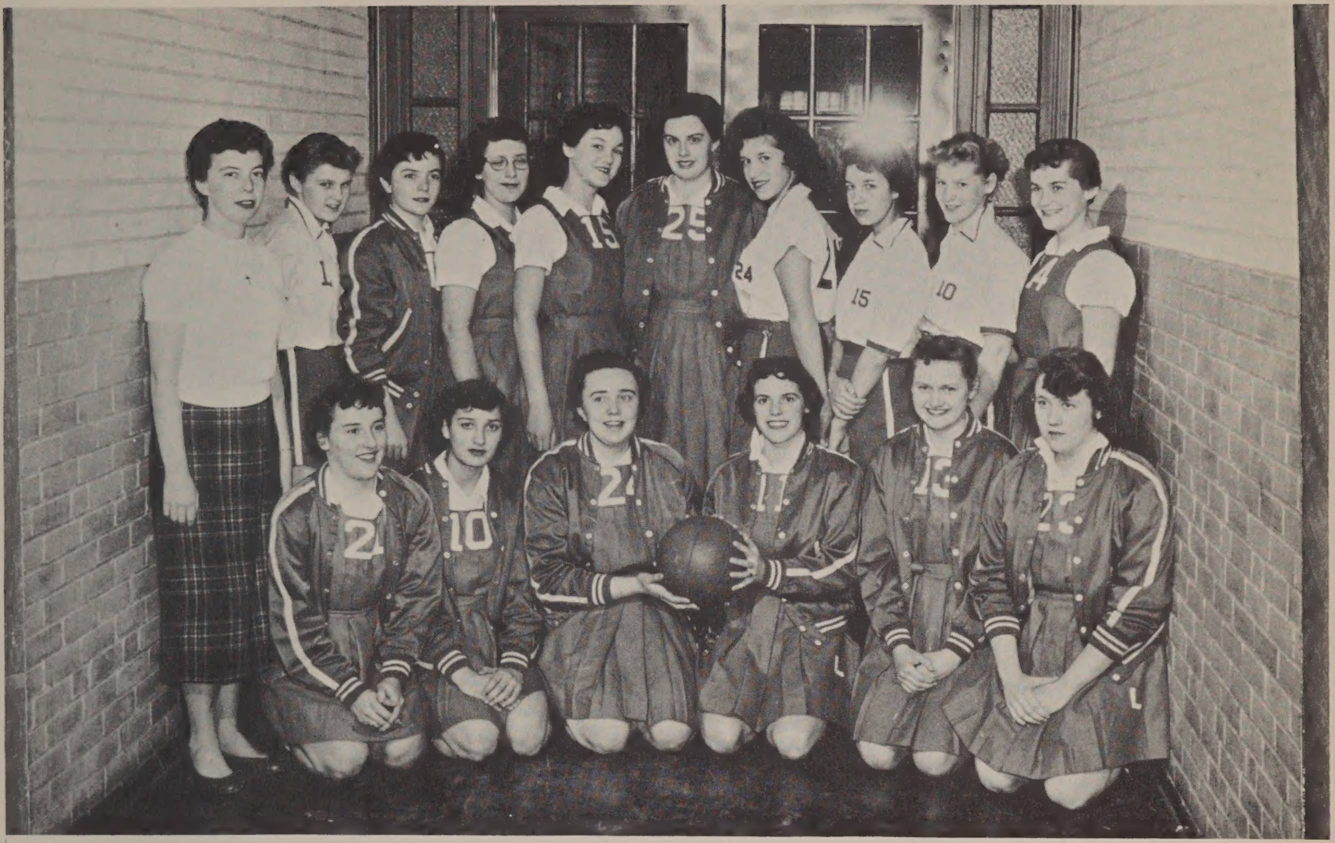
BOYS' BASKETBALL

The boys, rebuilding this year after having lost a whole varsity team, had a record of 7 wins and 8 losses; they exhibited great co-operation, however, and showed promise of a good team to come.

Directed by coach Mr. Arthur Silva, managed by John Stoddard and captained by David Delamater, the team was comprised of the following members: David Sullivan, Francis Lovejoy, Carter Branigan, Stephen Gaumont, Ronald Pacy, Gilbert Friberg, Robert Champagne, John Kelly and James Smith.

The Junior Varsity had a record of 4 wins and 6 losses. The team was comprised of the following members: Andy Landini, captain, Michael Chulada, Richard Guerra, James Smith, John Lojko, James Luchessi, Kenneth Marcus, Thomas Reinecke, David Foster and Charles Winn.



GIRLS' BASKETBALL

As a change from preceding years, this year the girls' basketball team played all its games in the afternoon. This change in schedule made it possible for the junior varsity team to compete with J. V. teams of neighboring towns, thereby giving a boost to the spirit of the entire squad. In fact, the first-string players showed so much spirit that they found themselves tied for first place in the league at the end of the season.

The team, led by captain Dorothy Robinson, co-captain Betty Morris, and managed by Louise Winslow, included, Judy Sammarco, Jane Landini, Tish Kimball, and Donna Delamater.

Members of the junior varsity were: captain, Carol Cunningham; co-captain, Judy Smiley; Pat McNulty; Sandra Graham; Julie Hosmer; Janet Eliades; Minnie Cantino; Penny Dalton; Nancy Sammarco; and Phyllis Valentine.

A special salute to the coach, Miss Mann, who taught the team not only basketball tactics, but confidence and a sense of sportsmanship.

Cheer Leaders

The sprightly cheerleaders did another excellent job of leading the fans during the 1956-57 season. This year they deserve extra praise because they cheered for four games each day instead of two, a strenuous schedule for them. Their enthusiastic cheers raised the spirit of both players and fans at the game, whether in victory or defeat.

The cheerleaders were Captain Sandra Chulada, Co-captain Lolly Brooks, Joyce Whitney, Jean Lund, Vilena DeSilvio, Edna Dow, and Judy Champagne.
